WOMEN WATCH THE CLOCK

in our stores and factories for that blessed hour when the day's work ends. The reason is readily seen, as the nature of their duties too often drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of organic troubles peculiar to women, causing backache, headaches, nervousness and irritability. SUPREME COURT DENIES NEW TRIAL TO ROBERTS

FRAUD CHARGED AGAINST STATE SURETY COMPANY ALLEGES OFFICIALS KNEW LAS CRUCES BANK WAS INSOLVENT.

Santa Fe, N. M., June 15.—That the First State bank of Las Cruces was insolvent at the time Morgan O. Llewellyn, treasurer of the A. & M. college, made his surety bond for funds on deposit in the bank, is the answer which the Southwestern Surety company makes to the suit of the state of New Mexico against this company to collect $75,000 claimed to be due on the bond of Llewellyn as treasurer of the college.

The answer also alleges that "the signature was obtained to the bond by fraud on the part of the state of New Mexico in that at the time the bond was executed and delivered, the governor and other officials of the state knew that Morgan O. Llewellyn had designated as his depository of the funds of the college the First State bank of Las Cruces."

Governor Knew Condition.
It further alleges that "the governor, the traveling auditor and the bank examiner of the state knew that the bank was insolvent and had been insolvent for a month prior to the date of the treasurer's bond with its defendant company; also that in securing the company's signature to the bond, the fact that the bank was insolvent was concealed from the state and the state fraudulently failed to apprise the defendant of the facts when the signature was obtained to the bond and that the company was deceived by the misrepresentations of the state of New Mexico and its agents in the execution of the bond."

Bond Invalidatory.
It is also charged in the answer that the bond was involuntary because there was no statute requiring such a bond of the treasurer of the college, and that he had agreed to give it under the impression that it would be necessary in order to accept the position as treasurer of the college. The company also claims the right to cancel its bond at any time and claims to have done this as soon as the El Paso agents of the company notified the head office that the bond had been made.

MAY URGE SPECIAL CONGRESS SESSION

States is hot to omit 'any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty,' it stands pledged to this demand, and president Wilson's note of May 12 to the use of force if Germany persists in her attacks upon our citizens traveling on the high seas.

"Under these circumstances, what ought we, the American people, to do? What have other neutral nations done when placed in a similar situation? On the news of the invasion of Belgium, the republic of Switzerland and the kingdom of Holland at once mobilized their troops and guarded their borders.

"Unfortunately we have but slender foundation upon which to build a policy of temperate firmness like that of our fellow neutrals. Practically not one step has been taken except to adapt our minds to the world our impotence."

Suggests Defense Measures.
Mr. Stinson declined at some length the military resources of the United States, urging the training of young men to be officers in volunteer armies, and advocating the preparation with all possible speed of supplies of arms and munitions. He gave it as his opinion that congress should now be extra-ordinarily making up for its failure to heed during regular sessions the recommendations made to it by military and naval officials.

Attacks Pacificists.
A paper prepared by former president Roosevelt was read before the meeting, in which the speaker attacked the pacifists and those who are peace at any price advocates, characterizing them as "poltroons" and the "most undesirable citizens in the country." He added that it is wicked to remain neutral between right and wrong.

TODAY'S BEAUTY SUGGESTIONS
Face powder simply covers up an unattractive complexion and leaves no lasting benefits. Those who have tried a simple spumax face lotion find it much better, as it removes skin discolorations, such as freckles and tan, and makes the skin smooth, white and velvety. This lotion is made by dissolving four ounces of spumax in one-half pint hot water, then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerin. This complexion beautifier does not rub off or show like powder, and gives a more refined appearance. It removes both shininess and sallowness, rapidly giving the skin a permanent healthy, youthful appearance.

An especially fine shampoo for this weather can be had at trifling expense by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lotion that dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on a glossy richness of natural color, also a stiffness which makes it seem very much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Adv.

This Name Stands for All YOU Can Ask In a PHONOGRAPH
There are some things about a Phonograph, that words won't tell. Words are simply labels—and it is one of the shortcomings of our language that words don't always express the difference between things.

DIFFERENCE IN PRICE DOESN'T EXPRESS DIFFERENCE IN VALUE
The difference in phonographs is only partly expressed by the difference in price.
An Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph will cost but very little more than a cheap priced phonograph. It will be worth fully ten times the difference—in service and satisfaction you get out of it.
THIS IS NOT A THEORY; IT IS A FACT
Everything is comparative. It is easy to be content with something else if you haven't heard the EDISON.

The Daily Novelette
It is to laugh.
The fish you caught that got away, is hard to make 'em believe. But harder still it is to explain. The story is your sleeve.
J turned home after the little episode of the whale, his wife was on the front steps looking for him.
"Oh, what shall I do?" he asked himself quakingly, as he turned the corner. "She'll never believe this story. I've made up so many wild ones in time gone by that now when I have a true one to spring, she'll swear I'm lying again!" (See Albert Dingenwatt's Domestic Life of Biblical Characters.)
"Well, sir?" Mrs. Jonah began, in a freezing voice. "So, instead of making a night of it, you have taken to disappearing for days at a time, have you?"
"My dear, a whale swallowed me and wouldn't let me up again," explained Jonah.
Mrs. Jonah behind the rolling pin she had been concealing behind her back, and then lowered it for she had thought of a bright remark.
"Whale, indeed?" she scoffed. "That sounds fishy to me!"
"Ho-ho-ho! Ho-ho-ho-ho!" roared Jonah in pretended mirth. "My dear, you're the queen of comedians, ho-ho-ho-ho!"
And she was so pleased at his appreciation that she let him in and gave him a kiss and some supper.
